MOKENA SCHOOL DISTRICT TO VOTE ON NEW ADDITION JULY 22'Yes' Vote Vital to Overcome Crowded Condition; Work Starts Soon If Passed

A school election will be held for the Mokena public school, District 150, on Saturday, July 22. The polls will be in the village hall and will be open from 12 noon until 7 p.m. The purpose is to submit two propositions to the residents of District 150.

The first proposition on the ballot will be "Shall an addition be built to the present school building?" As it is now and has been for several years, especially during the past year, the overcrowded condition has made it necessary to have a beginner's class on the stage of the auditorium and another class in the further end of the same room.

Everyone recognizes the fact that the most important step in a school child's life is the start the child gets. Under present crowded conditions with classes held in makeshift corners instead of a regular school room, the children are handicapped at the very start of their school life. The directors of the school realize that this handicap can exert a bad influence on the child's progress and record for years to come. Thus it is important that the directors get the "go sign" by the voters yes.

The second proposition on the same ballot will be to authorize the directors to issue bonds to build the addition to the school in the amount of $55,000. It is absolutely necessary to build this addition and yes should be voted on both propositions.

A copy of the ballot to be voted will appear in next week's paper. Everyone in this district should read and study it carefully for the good of today's children and those of future generations.

In addition there will be a public meeting in the school gymnasium, Wednesday night, July 19 at 8 o'clock, which should be attended by everyone in District 150. At this time the situation will be clearly explained to everyone.

One of the largest conventions ever to be held in Chicago will take place next week when the International convention of Lions International clubs will be held there starting Sunday, July 16 through the 21st.

To Vote July 2 to Re-Establish School

Saturday, July 22, the voters of former School District 140 will decide whether or not their district will be re-established. For many years, the district maintained a one room school known as the Kirby School in Orland township. However, as part of the school reorganization proceedings, under the school survey act, the district was absorbed by the Tinley Park Community Consolidated School District No. 146, in 1947.

The residents of the Kirby School district were opposed to the consolidation, but were carried in by the vote of the other districts involved. Now after one year trial of the new consolidated district, they remain unconvinced, and have instituted the necessary proceedings before the Cook County Superintendent of Schools, to detach their district and re-establish it as a common district.

The petition, signed by 93 percent of the district voters claim that the tax increased from .458 to 1.238 for the short time they were included in the Tinley District.

in private duty nursing and public service in the American Red Cross nurse recruiting program and on various nursing committees.

She also sought a broader experience for teaching purposes by serving in various departments of Silver Cross hospital, from central supply to surgery, an experience she believes all clinical instructors should have since it is their prime function to help the student put her theoretical study of nursing into effective practice.

N. L. Garden Club
Plans Flower Show

The New Lenox Garden club met in the Episcopal parish hall, July 6, with members, and members of the Manhattan Garden club who were their guests. A dessert-coffee was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Lucille Drake, Betty Hansen, Mildred Robinson and Magdelyn Miller.

The next meeting of the club will be held August 3 in the home of Mrs. Mildred Houchin.

Many Tinley Lions will also march in the parade.

Orland Park Lions will go in with the Blue Island Lion members with a float in the parade. Lion Marvin Schmiedeke of Orland was selected to serve on the arrangement committee for this convention.

To give an idea of the size of the convention, there will be about 3,000 members coming from the state of Texas alone. They have engaged the entire Stevens hotel. Every state in the union will be largely represented.

The Frankfort members plan to attend the convention Monday.

WORK STARTED
ON IMPROVING
TINLEY STREET

Tinley Park is launching their street improvement program which they have been planning for some time. It has been greatly needed because of crowded conditions with parked cars and heavy traffic.

Construction was started Monday on widening of the Oak Park avenue pavement from the Rock Island railroad tracks north to 171st street. The cost of this new 10 foot blacktop shoulder on each side and black topping of the pavement now in, is being borne by the property owners, the village of Tinley Park and the state road department.

The village is taking care of all water pipes now in and are installing new ones under the supervision of Henry Bechstein, water commissioner.

When this blacktop is completed, sidewalk to sidewalk, there will be more room and safer parking. The parking will be parallel instead of angled.

BREMEN HIGH SCHOOL FACTS
RELEASED BY T. P. CIVIC CLUB

By Tinley Park Civic Club

For the past few weeks the Tinley Park Civic Club has been conducting a study of the facts related to the proposed Community High School district for the Bremen Township Non-High area. The facts gathered are presented here, according to the Civic Club, so that the voters will be able to determine for themselves the best action to take as they go to the polls on July 22nd to vote upon the proposition.

Recently an election was held for the purpose of annexing the Bremen Township non-high area to the Thornton Township High school district. This proposition was defeated by the voters of Thornton and petitions were filed very shortly thereafter to form a Community High School district comprising all of Bremen Township not already attached to some other high school district. The election on these petitions has been scheduled for July 22nd.

Legislation enacted at the last session of the general assembly eliminates the non-high areas of the State by July 1, 1953. If any non-high territory still exists at that time the duty of educating the high school pupils becomes an obligation of the elementary boards. The law does not, however, give the elementary boards authority to levy a tax for this purpose. Thus it seems necessary that Bremen Township attempts to solve its problem by somehow providing high school facilities for our boys and girls. Members of the Civic Club committee, in their efforts to determine whether a Bremen Com-unity High school would be the solution, have doubts of the advisability on such a move at this time since there seem to be many questions still unanswered plus the fact that it is a gamble as to whether there will be sufficient money available for the payment of tuition during the time a building is being planned and constructed.

The process of establishing a high school district does require certain steps to be followed. The election on July 22nd is but the first step of a series to follow in rapid succession. The second step will be the election of a Board of Education consisting of five members one to be chosen as president by the members themselves. The third step requiring the attention of all people directly will be an election to increase the tax rate from 50 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation to 75 cents. All of these elections must have proper notices published before an election may be held. It will be necessary for the voters to approve the tax rate increase far enough in advance of September 26th so that the Board may prepare and file its levy on that date.

The assessed valuation of the territory of the proposed high school district amounts to approximately 22 1/2 million dollars.

There were 589 pupils enrolled in Thornton from this area last year. Tuition at Thornton will be at or above the mark of $300 per pupil next year.

This means that the cost of those (Continued on back page)

MOKENA PEOPLE T. P. MERCHANT
IN CAR-TRUCK ACCIDENT FRI.
DOES IT AGAIN

A narrow escape from death in an auto truck collision occurred last Friday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the corner of 175th street and route 45.

Miss Shirley Bennett, 16, was driving a 1941 Ford tudor car, belonging to John Ellis of Mokena. With her were her younger sisters Sheila and Kathleen and small brother Todd.

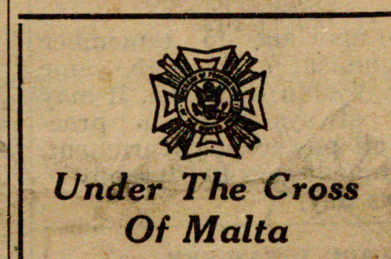

When Miss Bennett came to route 45 from the west, she failed to stop for the through street and when she was half way across was hit by a truck coming from the south.

The truck driver, Alfred Haaland, of Pilot Rock, Oregon, who had just purchased the 10 ton Mack truck was on his way home to Oregon. It was impossible for him to stop although he did apply his brakes as soon and as forcefully as possible. He hit the car on the side catching the latter and holding it which prevented the car from turning over.

The children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett of Mokena and the car owner were notified as well as the state police at Blue Island.

Miraculously no one was injured. The smaller children were cut a little by the broken glass in the car.

The car, which was badly damaged on the left side, was taken to Cooper and Hostert garage in Mokena where it is estimated the damage amounts to $300. It is insured. The truck had the grill and front bumper damaged amounting to $172. It was taken to the Oelke's garage in Orland Park and after repairing it, Mr. Haaland left with it Monday night for his trip home.

Betty Erickson and
Norman Grund Wed

Miss Betty Louise Erickson and Norman LeRoy Grund were married at a recent ceremony, read by Rev. Denis Hall, in the Chapel of St. Jude's Catholic church in New Lenox.

Miss Erickson is the daughter of Mrs. Vera Schaeffer, 112 Miller avenue of Joliet, and Mr. Grund is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Grund Sr., of New Lenox.

Mrs. John Hollister sang "Ave Maria" and "O Lord Most Holy." Mrs. John Croughwell was the organist. The altar was decorated with palms, and bouquets of white gladioli and peonies.

The bride wore a gown of white organza, ballerina length, fashioned with a Peter Pan stand-up collar and short sleeves. Tiny organza covered buttons lined the front of the waist. Her fingertip veil fell from a white organza half hat. She wore three-quarter length gloves that buttoned up the side and carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald M. Erickson.

Mrs. Richard Mummert was matron of honor. She was attired in a green dotted swiss gown styled similar to that of the bride, and wore white mitts, a white hat tied with a white bow at the back, and carried a colonial bouquet of white lilies.

Mrs. Donald Erickson and Mrs. Jack Lepper of Joliet were bridesmaids. They were dressed identical to the maid of honor.

Best man was Robert Wade of Harvey, Richard Mummert and Albert Gelin, Jr. also of Harvey were the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Schaeffer wore a navy blue print dress. Her accessories were, navy and black.

Mrs. Grund wore a navy blue print dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Elizabeth Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schiffer of Joliet and Mrs. Mary Grund of Chicago, grand parents of the bride and groom, attended. The grandmothers wore corsages of carnations and sweet peas.

A reception was held in the Schaeffer home in Joliet with approximately 150 friends and relatives attending. A white linen cloth covered the bride's table which was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. White tapers in crystal candelabra decorated either end of the table. Mrs. Janet Clinton cut the wedding cake; Mrs. Lois Bruns presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ethel Barnett had charge of the guest book.

Following a week's wedding trip to Hazelhurst, Wis., the newlyweds are now residing on Second avenue in New Lenox.

Editorial Freedom under Communism 2-199

Liberty, in the Western sense of the term, cannot exist in a communist state—or in any state which subscribes to the other totalitarian doctrines.

We need not turn to anti-communists to support that statement. A book written some time ago by A. Y. Vyshinsky provides remarkable proof of it. Mr. Vyshinsky is the Soviet foreign minister, a top man in the Politburo, and a leading authority on Marxism as now practiced behind the iron curtain. In defense of Soviet laws, he wrote this: "Having given the toilers freedom of speech, assemblies, street parades, press and so on, the Soviet government explicitly excluded the nonlabor classes from enjoyment of this freedom... Having assured genuine freedom of press to the toilers, the Soviet government did not extend this freedom to the nonlaboring strata."

A page or two later, Mr. Vyshinsky expanded on his theme in these words: "In our state, naturally, there is and can be no place for freedom of speech, press, and so on for the foes of socialism... Freedom of speech, of the press, of assembly, of meetings, of street parades, and of demonstrations are the property of all the citizens in the USSR, fully guaranteed by the State upon the single condition that they be utilized in accord with the interest of the toilers and to the end of strengthening the socialistic social order."

That is worth reading again, word for word. What he said, if it means anything at all, is that the people can be perfectly free so long as that freedom consists in following the line laid down by their masters. They can speak freely—so long as they do not criticize Soviet policy. They can have a free press—so long as it shouts the praises of Stalin and sternly demands the death or deportation of dissidents. They can assemble freely—so long as the prime purpose of the assembly is to sing the praises of the "workers' fatherland." This is very much as if one of our political parties took over the government and passed a law which said that everybody could speak freely and enjoy the other freedoms with the exception of the members of other political parties!

Finally, it is enormously important to remember that socialism, no less than communism produces the same kind of "freedom" of which Mr. Vyshinsky spoke. It may not do that in theory, but it always does in practice. For when we concentrate all power in government, no matter what name that government goes by, tyranny follows as surely as night follows day.

The Mokena Robins softball teams first game of last week was with Buda of Harvey at the home field. Mokena was defeated 9 to 4. Ross was the winning pitcher and Barney the loser.

The second game played July 6 at Steger with Crete proved to be the most successful. Don Guendling was the star hitter in the game with a home run in the eighth, making the score 5 to 4, which was held to win the game. Barney was the winning pitcher.

Friday evening the locals met Frankfort in a long close game. The game proved very exciting when Mokena came close to winning in the ninth. With the bases loaded and only one out, George Merrick sacrificed but the umpire called it a dead ball and sent Fritz

TINLEY 16" SOFTBALL

Greetings Guys! Hitting the paper late this week. I'm going to try to sneak under the wire.

Monday June 25, Cavetts ekked Brandau's by one run, 8 to 7. It was close. One thing can be said about the Pillpushers, they're as good winners as losers.

Parkside, hereafter to be known as the Scavengers, took a whipping from those re-invigorated Doughboys, July 27 by a score of 25 to 21.

June 28, Sanger and Methodist were on the agenda for a bout. Lefty evidently must have been home feeding his chickens because he began 40 minutes late. The Meth. boys must have eaten their Wheaties. In the first half of the first inning with no one away, Meth. was four runs ahead. Come a few rain clouds that dampened things considerable. The game was replayed July 2.

Methodist set a new record that should stand for awhile. They played almost perfect defensive ball committing only one fielding error. They went on to take those high and mighty Sanger boys down a peg to the tune of 14 to 5.

G. E. TRIMS SANGER

Sunday afternoon July 9, right after Oak Forest Acorn-Tinley Sportsmen hardball game, Sanger and a team representing the General Electric Co., from 54th South Canal visited Tinley. They challenged the lusty, crusty bawling Sanger boys to a duel with bats and balls having a half barrel of beer as the winners award.

Ward J. Wilkins, a local yokel and manager for G. E., arranged the match. Ward lives at 167th and Oak Park in the steel house next to Devil's Station.

Sanger started strong scoring in the first and second; but going runless thereafter thru the next seven innings. Age will tell.

SPORTSMEN B's in 2ND PLACE

Tinley Sportsmen B team took over undisputed possession of 2nd place as they downed North Harvey AC 1 to 0 behind the strong arm of Jim Tomlinson who allowed but one hit while striking out 7 and walking two.

Harvey's only hit came in the 2nd inning. Tinley also received but one hit but mixed it with four walks and four errors for their lone run.

The run was picked up in the 2nd when Bob Cupp was safe on an error, then he stole 2nd and went to 3rd on catcher's wild throw! Tom Babbitt then layed down a perfect bunt and Cupp scored the winning run. Tinley played errorless ball all the way and came up with some wonderful plays. Tinley's hustle and high spirits also proved to be a winning factor. Come out and watch this team in action on Friday evenings at 6:15.

B'S LOSE CLOSE ONE

Tinley Park Sportsmen B's went out Wednesday evening and played a good game only to have Midlothian steal it 4 to 3.

Tinley at one time was leading 3 to 0 going into the 5th inning were unable to hold the lead.

Our School Problem

Creating Independent Districts Out of Non-High School Territory

Portions of the non-high school territory may unite to create either a high school territory or a unit district, the latter of which would provide for the education of all residents from grades one thru twelve.

Creating High School Districts

There are two major types of high school organization in Illinois, township and community, both of which are created in essentially the same way. A petition signed by at least 100 legal voters describing a territory having a population of not less than 2000 persons and an equalized assessed valuation of not less than six million dollars is presented to the trustees of schools for a proposed township high school district or to the county superintendent of schools for a proposed community high school. An election must then be called in the territory described in the petition. If a majority of the voters voting at the election favor the creation of the district, it is established. In the event Will County non-high school territory should create one or more high school districts, the underlying elementary school districts would remain as they are.

Creating Unit Districts

If the non-high school territory should desire to create one or more community unit districts offering education from grades one through twelve, residents might petition for the creation of either a consolidated school district, a community consolidated school district, or a community unit district. The most popular type of unit organization at the present time is the community unit school district. Two hundred or more voters residing in any contiguous and compact territory, no part of which is included within any existing community unit school district, having a population of not less than 2000 and an equalized assessed valuation of not less than six million dollars, may petition the county superintendent to call an election on the issue, if such petition contains signatures from at least three-fourths of the school districts or parts of school districts in the described territory. The county superintendent then calls a hearing to study the petition, and at the conclusion of the hearing, may approve or deny it. If approved, he must call an election to be held within forty days. At the election a majority of the voters residing in incorporated places as well as a majority of the voters residing in unincorporated places must favor the creation of the district if it is to be considered carried. If the district created is comprised of two or more congressional townships, an election must be called by the county superintendent to elect a board of education consisting of seven members, not more than three of which may be from any one congressional township. If the district is more than one congressional township, but less than two congressional townships, not more than five members of the seven-member board may be elected from any city, village, or incorporated town.

When a community unit district is created, transportation must be provided to all students residing at a distance from attendance centers. The maximum automatic tax rate for educational purposes is $1.00 and for building purposes, 25 cents. However, such rates may be increased by majority vote at a referendum.

Territory May Be Detached From Unit Districts

Territory may be detached from a community unit district upon a petition signed by two-thirds of the voters residing in the territory describing itself as desiring detachment, after a favorable hearing by the county judge.

How Big Must an Efficient School Be?

Statutory limitations for minimum sizes of newly created school districts in Illinois are 2000 people and an assessed valuation of six million dollars. Much has been written concerning the size school districts should be to provide the most economical type of education. Howard A. Dawson, in a bulletin entitled "Satisfactory Local Units", George Peabody college for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., 1934, concludes that to operate a school with maximum economy, a school population of at least 9800 would be required. If the enrollment drops below 1600 costs of education rise disproportionately. The logic of this classic study has never been effectively disputed. The Educational Policies commission, in a publication entitled, "The Structure and Administration of Education in American Democracy" Washington D. C., 1938, holds that an adequate school program at minimum cost would necessitate a school unit of from 10 to 12 thousand pupils. The Illinois Department of Finance in "State Aid to Schools in Illinois," Springfield, Ill., 1939, reached the conclusion that school units of 1600 pupils comprising areas of at least 50 square miles were about as small as schools could be without costs of education rising disproportionately. Paul R. Mort and Francis G. Cornell in "American Schools in Transition," Columbia University, New York, 1941, held that schools with secondary enrollments of 650 and elementary enrollments of 1600 are at the minimal point of efficiency and adaptability to individual student needs. Although the State Superintendent of Public Instruction may recognize high schools with enrollments as small as 15 per grade, it is obvious that such a school would be extremely limited in its ability to provide a variety of educational offerings and experiences to fit learner needs. In reality, high schools with enrollments below 650 find this task extremely costly. The fact that there are many high schools in Illinois with enrollments of less than 650 students is not a justification of their educational efficiency, but rather the mark of a state system of education that grew up without much forethought.

The recent program of school surveys in Illinois invariably recognized the desirability of larger school districts than those already in existence, although geographical and community factors, and population sparsity in many instances prevented the reporting out of districts which would measure up to the criteria indicated above.

Why Not Protect American Workers?

American enterprises and industries are being hurt by the administration's so-called reciprocal trade agreements, our continuing foreign aid, and our plans for the development of the backward areas of the world. Already much of the protection for American industry and labor has been withdrawn and the products of cheap foreign labor reach American markets in increasing volume. Yet new plans are now in the making to further reduce our industry and labor to competitive levels with the rest of the world.

The European Cooperation Administration is taking steps to encourage more and more importations of cheap foreign goods. Also the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House is now conducting hearings on the proposal that the United States join the International Trade Organization. Meanwhile our shoe industry, our rubber footwear industry, our jeweled watch industry, our ceramics industry, and our glass industry are complaining vociferously about the foreign competition that they are now called upon to meet. Recently the hat industry of New England brought its woes to the attention of Congress, and the American fur industry called on Congress to do something to protect the market against imports from Russia. Also, oil producers abroad have been importing crude oil at lower rates than Texas producers can market their product under present conservation restrictions, and many oil field workers are out of employment.

Both Secretary of State Acheson and ECA Administrator Hoffman have indicated that government subsidies should be provided for those industries and enterprises that are liable to be hurt by the competition of foreign-made goods. One thing is certain, both American industry and American labor are now being taxed to tool up Europe for the day when she will be an active competitor, not only in the world markets but in our own domestic markets as well. Will we never learn to think of our own workers first? Protection as well as Charity should begin at home.

The Working Man's Tax Load—(From the Congressional Record)

"Mr. Mason: Mr. Speaker, in 1948 the Federal government took from the American taxpayers $42 billion; the State governments, about $9 billion; and the local governments (county, township, city, school district etc.) about $9 billion.

This makes a grand total tax load upon the American people of $60 billion.

"The Census Bureau tells us we have a population of 150,000,000 people. 150,000,000, we get a yearly tax load of $400 upon every man, woman, and child in America. Since the average American family is a family of four, that means a tax load upon the average family of $1600 per year.

"If we want to reduce the yearly tax load to a weekly tax load, we simply divide $1600 by 50, the number of working weeks in a year, and we get $32 as the average weekly tax load per family.

"To break the weekly tax load down to an hourly basis, taking 40 hours per week as the standard, the bread winner of the family must hand over in taxes 80c per hour out of his hard earned wages. No wonder the American worker feels he must strike for higher hourly wages when almost half his pay goes for taxes—mostly hidden taxes.

"Mr. Speaker, a reduction in taxes would give every worker a real boost in pay and it doesn't require a long costly strike to win such a boost. It requires only proper use of the worker's franchise. Since the women of America represent 52% of the total vote in America and control 95% of the family pocketbooks of America, they can by the proper use of their ballots secure a real increase in the family allowance without any strike or labor trouble. Our tax load today is greater than our total American family meat and grocery bill. Taxes should be reduced."

Because the wild horse had little protection from its enemies besides running ability, nature gave it the advantage of early development. Childcraft books tell us that a colt can lift its head ten minutes after birth, and can stand up an hour later. Wobbly at first, the day-old colt can walk and run.

When first used, wallpaper was the poor man's tapestry. Later wealthy people also adopted it to supplant the silk and velvet wall hangings so popular in Europe until the 1500's. The World Book Encyclopedia states that the Chinese, who were the first people to use paper, were also the first to use it as a wall decoration.

SHORT STORY

Bart's Decision

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

BART HODGES had lived in the city for two years and he was getting tired of it. Country bred, he longed for the smell of sweet, fresh air, the sound of roosters crowding and crows lowing. He wanted to go to bed to the tune of crickets cheeping and bullfrogs jug-a-rumming. It wasn't as if the city hadn't been kind to Bart. It had. It had taken him to its bosom, and he had prospered. Nor had he been unhappy. He loved the lights, the noise, the hustle and bustle. And most of all he loved a girl.

Tonight, lying on the divan in the living room of his apartment, Bart was troubled with an annoying thought. He wondered, strangely, which he wanted most: Sabina's love or the country.

It was at this particular moment in Bart's speculation that the telephone rang. A strangely familiar feminine voice answered.

"Hello, there, Bart," the voice said. "This is Sadie Blake, fresh in from the old home town. Come down and talk to one of your forgotten friends."

Bart's pulse leaped. Sadie! His boyhood pal! Sadie, whom one day he expected to marry! Sadie, in the city. Here! Now! Fresh from Centerville, with news and notes of the old home town galore.

At that moment Sabina Goodnow was forgotten. There was just one girl in the world for Bart. And that girl was Sadie Blake. He felt suddenly ashamed he had neglected to write, to remember her at Christmas...

Sadie, pink cheeked, blooming with good health and freshness, met him in the lobby of her hotel. "Hello, pal," she cried. "Looking just the same. Thinner, maybe. But otherwise old Bart himself."

"Sadie!" Bob stared in open admiration. "Sadie! How good it is to see you. Tell me, how are things in Centerville? How are the folks? Tell me everything."

"Same old town, Bart. Your folks are fine. Your dad owns a new tractor. Polly, the horse, died, you know. But I suppose they wrote you that. The voters decided to run town water up to William's Hill at the last town meeting. Not so much danger if fire breaks out now. Ed Salmon ran off with Bob Evans' wife. She came back two weeks ago, and Bob took her in. Shame. Poor kid..."

THEY TALKED for hours. By evening Bart was fully apprised of all the events and happenings in Centerville during the past two years, and assured that his folks were well.

He took Sadie out to dinner, and delighted in showing her around. She seemed a little awed by it all, and more awed by Bart's indifference to the many wonders.

"You get used to it after a while," he said indifferently, and stood gazing thoughtfully at the many lights along Broadway. He felt enlightened and no longer homesick. Strangely enough the noise and bustle associated themselves in his mind with Sabina. He was glad to be a part of it all.

He gazed furtively at the comely Sadie and pictured her in the rural setting of Centerville.

They attended a theater and dined afterward at an exclusive night club. Sadie would have liked to go back to her hotel, but she wanted to please Bart.

"Bart," she said, when at last they stood outside the door to her room. "When are you coming home? When are you going to give up all this and come back where you belong?"

Bart looked down into her eyes and saw something that two years ago he had longed to witness. He sighed deeply.

"Sadie, it's been just great seeing you. Just what I needed. A sort of tonic." He smiled at her gently. "I'm not going back just yet, Sadie. There's something keeping me here, something that before I never knew existed. I know now that it's something greater than anything. Some time I'm coming back, and when I do there'll be two of us."

Her name was Sabina Goodnow, and she adored him.

SHORT STORY

Jackie's Best World

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE DAY BEFORE Darling's three-ring circus, largest to ever visit New England, came to Dexter, Silas Ledbetter called his 12-year-old son in from the barn and said:

"Look here, Jackie, you've been a pretty good boy this summer. Guess you deserve bein' on hand with the other boys at that circus when it gets here tomorrow."

The Ledbetters were poor as church mice, and Jackie hadn't dared even let himself think his pop would let him attend the circus. Consequently, his round blue eyes grew even rounder.

Old Silas grinned and swallowed a lump in his throat. He dug down into his pocket and brought out a shiny, new silver half-dollar.

Jackie carefully placed the half-dollar in a pocket of his tattered overalls, pulled his straw hat well over his ruddy face, puckered up his lips and began to whistle. He whistled all that afternoon and was still whistling when he came in from the lower lot for supper.

Once upstairs, Jackie carefully took off his shirt and then felt in the pocket of his overalls for the half-dollar. He'd better sleep with it under his pillow, he reasoned, like he'd read about folks doing.

It was right then that Jackie's heart sank, right then that the world turned black and there was a horrible, terrifying, empty feeling in the pit of his stomach. The half-dollar was gone!

Jackie wanted to cry, but he was too much of a man for that. He searched through the other pocket very carefully, and then looked in his shoes, and under the bed and about everywhere that the half-dollar might have been. But it was gone, completely vanished.

And so Jackie, his heart aching with misery, crawled into bed. And then — he couldn't help it — he cried. But all the time he kept telling himself he was a man now and he'd better stop crying before mom came up to tuck him in and kiss him good night.

If mom found him crying she'd feel bad and probably cry, too. And Jackie didn't want that to happen.

HE COULDN'T, he decided, even let mom know that he had lost the half-dollar. Or pop either. That wouldn't be fair. He'd just go off by himself tomorrow afternoon and make them think he was at the circus all the time. He wouldn't want them to know for anything. There wasn't any one in the world had a better pop and mom than he.

Jackie fought to keep back the tears. He didn't wait long after breakfast and set out with his pitchfork over his shoulder and a whistle on his lips.

Once out of sight of the house, the whistle died. The ache and misery in his heart just wouldn't let it go on. Still, he was going to see the parade anyway, and pop and mom would think he was going to the circus. It was comforting to know that pop and mom were happy.

Jackie reached the lower lot and began to shake out the hay as pop had asked him to do. He couldn't loaf on the job, he told himself, because if he did pop wouldn't think him very grateful for the half-dollar.

Jackie turned the hay in one window and started on the next. But all the while his heart fairly sobbed with misery. And then abruptly that same heart almost ceased to beat. Jackie stared and stared at something round and shiny that lay in the stubbles under the forkful of hay he'd just picked up. After a long time, it seemed, his heart began to thump again. He felt goose pimples breaking out all over his body. He wanted to cry and shout and do all sorts of things.

And then Jackie remembered that he'd been working here on the afternoon before, and the half-dollar must have slipped out of his pocket. He picked up the coin, squeezed it lovingly and, holding it tightly in his clenched fist, went to shaking out the hay again. The best mom and the best pop in the world, he told himself joyfully.

The annual consumption of milk and cream averages up to about 40 pounds per person.

Will Co Health Dept. Must Approve Septic Tanks, Etc.

All persons intending to construct private sewage disposal systems should seek sanitary engineering advice and approval is required to prevent improper sewage disposal which is a public health problem.

Dr. Fatherree said it has come to the attention of the Will County Health Department that sewage disposal systems are being constructed without approval. A county ordinance passed September 9, 1947 states:

"No septic tank, privy vault, sink drain, or sewage disposal system shall be erected or constructed in this county, except in accordance with the Minimum Requirements of the Will County Board of Health and it shall be unlawful to proceed with such work unless a permit therefor shall have first been obtained from the Will County Board of Health. All sewage disposal systems shall thereafter be maintained in proper repair by the owner."

The Will County Health Department is ready to help everyone with sewage disposal installations so that construction of improper disposal systems can be stopped and the menace to public health eliminated.

Mr. James Brown, Public Health engineer for the Will County Health Department has outlined the proper procedure for persons intending to construct private sewage disposal systems, and the help available to them from the Will County Health Department.

1. Secure an application for a permit from the county zoning office or from the Will County Health Department.

2. Complete the application and mail or bring it to the Will County Health Department.

The Health Department will:

- Make an inspection of the proposed site and advise the applicant of the Minimum Requirements, and the best type of installation for his space and soil condition.
- Give a permit for construction.
- Make a second inspection before the installation is covered and give final approval.

This procedure should eliminate future installation of sewage disposal systems which are a menace to public health, and which do not adequately serve the owner. It will also save the owner unnecessary expense and embarrassing situations.

Resume Summer Lake Michigan Boat Trips

The famed Lake Michigan excursion ship, S. S. City of Grand Rapids, began its one-day across-lake trips to Michigan City, Ind., from Chicago's Michigan Ave. bridge and return on Saturday, June 24, according to an announcement by Thomas J. McGuire, president of the Cleveland and Buffalo Steamship Company operating the "Queen of the lake."

Daily trips to lovely Washington Park in Michigan City are being replaced, at a greatly lower cost, the excursions to Benton Harbor that have been in force for years.

The ship will leave the Michigan Ave. bridge at 10:30 a.m. (daylight saving time) each morning and will reach Washington Park in Michigan City at 1:30. Allowing two and one-half hours for pleasant recreation on the Michigan side, the return trip will get under way at 4 p.m. with arrival time at the Michigan Ave. dock 7 p.m.

The nightly Moonlight Dance Cruises started June 24 with departure time set for 8:30 from the Michigan Ave. bridge. This cruise, so long a popular recreation feature for Chicagoans, lasts until 11:30 and midnight on Saturdays.

Recalling that of five lines operating about 18 excursion vessels over the years, all have disappeared and this is now the only ship making one day trips out of Chicago, Mr. McGuire remarked:

"As against fares last year of $3.50 a person daily and $4.00 on Sundays to Benton Harbor and $1.50 weekdays and $1.75 Saturdays for the moonlight cruises, this year we have trimmed the rates to $2 a person for the cruise to Michigan City and return and $1 daily for the moonlight trip." Club and organization cruise parties are again being encouraged.

SCRIPTURE: The Book of Ruth.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Proverbs 31:10-31.

Why Families?

Lesson for July 16, 1950

THE ENGLISH language has a word not found in the original languages of the Bible; it is not in Latin, German or French for that matter. It is the word "home." But homes were not invented in England or America; the ancient peoples of the world had homes even if they had no special word for them. The story of Ruth is a home-story, a family tale. It comes from the times of the Judges, which were very rugged times indeed.

To read the Book of Judges you would think that everything was plots and wars and murder. There isn't a peaceful story in the book. And then comes the story of Ruth, to remind us that even in those terrible times there were happy people, people who minded their business and worked hard and stayed home and loved one another.

The bright spots in today's vast seas of misery are just what they were in Ruth's time.

Working Together

"A HOME is a place to go when everything else has shut up" is not a true proverb. For if that is all it is, it is not a home. It is only a boarding house and not a very attractive one at that.

It is the people who live in it who make it. But just throwing people together within four walls, even if the people are closely related, will not make a home. When you read the story of Ruth you see one thing standing out: they were all working people.

To this day, there are fewer divorces in the country than in the cities, and one big reason for that is that country families have to work together, while city families often have little in common. In the country everybody turns to and does something about the house, everybody helps everybody else; while in the cities where so much is done by machines and houses are very small, there isn't much a family can do together. Still, it is worth while for any family to try to work out something that they can all do together.

Unity in Variety

It is striking that in the Bible the warmest expression of devotion shown by one person to another, is expressed by one woman to her mother-in-law, by Ruth to Naomi. Ruth was of a different race and generation and nation. Yet she takes Naomi's family for her own.

That illustrates another beautiful feature of living in a family. You learn to live with all kinds of people. Even in so small a group, no two are alike. And the thing that holds a family together almost better than anything else is not similar tastes in breakfast foods, or identical educations, or equality of age or temperament; it is common ideals, it is agreement about the important things in life.

What do you, for example, think is the greatest thing in the world? Do your family agree with you? If they do (or you with them) then you have a basis for a happy family life.

Unity in Worship

HIGH ideals, held by all in common, are almost the best family cement; but better and best is religion. When you read the story of Ruth you are struck not only by their high ideals but by their natural, heart-felt, everyday religious faith. It comes out in the remarks of Boaz. It was one of the things that no doubt had attracted Ruth to the family in the first place. The climax of her famous promise to her mother-in-law is "thy God shall be my God."

It is at best confusing, and at worst tragic, when families are divided in their religious faith. Some one has said that when the father belongs to one denomination and the wife to another, the children are likely to become Nothingarians.

The old family pew, happily not out of style in many places, is more than a quaint custom. It is a fine symbol of family life at its best. Where are the most of the broken homes? Among the families where father and mother send the children to Sunday school while they themselves lie around at home reading the paper, or among the families where all go to the house of God together? A home without real religion is a home without its surest foundation.

Bremen Hi School

pupils attending Thornton will amount to at the very least $176,700.
An Educational tax rate of 75 cents will produce $168,750 if all of the taxes are collected. However, the tax collection in Bremen Township amounts to about 85% over a period of years. Thus there would be available for the first year the sum of $143,437 for the payment of more than $168,750 in tuitions.

Should the voters vote NOT to increase the tax rate from 50 cents to 75 cents the deficit would be more than $56,250 for the first year.

However, enrollments are increasing each year and there is every indication that there will be more than 589 pupils from this area enrolled in Thornton next year. Students enrolled in other high schools have not even been considered here in the presentation of these facts.

In the construction of a building certain minimum requirements must be met in order that we may have a recognized high school. First, the building itself must be large enough to accommodate the pupils enrolled. According to PRESENT elementary enrollment figures in this area this building should be constructed to house at least 1,000 pupils. These elementary enrollments would be more than 1,500 pupils. This does not take into consideration those who would move into the district due to the further expansion of home building which is very noticeable throughout the Township.

There are some definite conclusions which can be arrived at from an examination of these facts. First, it would be to our advantage to have postponed the formation of this district until all their possibilities have been exhausted. Other areas surrounding us are also facing problems and it is still quite possible that some joint solution would be forthcoming within the next few months. Second, if no other solution were open to us it would have been better to continue in our non-high for another year and thus gain time to present the necessary tax rate increase elections at a time when failure of the voters to vote favorably on a rate increase would permit the Board to submit the question again before having to file a levy which would be wholly inadequate.

Should this election to form the Community High school district fall at this time, the same proposition could not be submitted again for a period of two years. That would still be before the 1953 deadline set by the legislature. In the meantime other possibilities could be fully investigated and if no other solution could be arrived at, the machinery could be set in motion early enough to insure a safer disposition of our high school problem.

Behind all these facts lies the main purpose of our interest in the high school problem. That is the desire of all of us to provide the best in educational opportunity for our own boys and girls. We are dealing with young lives and in this respect it is better to be able to pay our bills and work out a solution to our problem which will benefit each of us. The Civic group is asking the people to examine this proposed solution very carefully and vote upon the question in a way that each will be sure he is doing the VERY BEST for our young people.

Your tribute in granite to one you love is as permanent as the earth; as perpetual as the rising sun. . . . Affectionate eloquence that will be understood as long as civilization shall last.

Co. Folk Festival At Frankfort School Gym July 29

Following a meeting of committees of the 1950 County Folk and Sports Festival sponsored by the Farm and Home Bureaus, county co-chairman Dorothea Eisenbrandt of Lockport and Ralph Jackson of Wilmington have announced that a Folk festival will be held Thursday evening, July 27, in the gymnasium of the Frankfort grade school. This is the same location as has been used for this particular program since it was started two years ago.

Mrs. George Bovee, Manhattan; Mrs. Henry DeGroot, Monée; Mrs. Ray Geist, Plainfield; Mildred Smith, Manhattan; and William

Goodwin, Wilmington, are in charge of the Festival.

All contestants must be from Farm Bureau or Home Bureau families, 4-H, Rural Youth; F.F.A. or F.H.A. members. The classifications are Barbershop quartet community song leader, family singing, open class vocal group (duet, trio, quartet; ensemble up to 20 persons); 4-H vocal group (solo, duet, trio, quartet or ensemble up to 20 persons); instrumental group (duet; trio; quartet; ensemble or orchestra); novelty or rhythm bands, 4-H folk dance team, 4-H square dance team; acrobatic and tap dancing (teams of 2 or more people); skits or stunts (2 or more participants; time limit 5 minutes).

For details, contact the committee in charge or the Farm or Home Bureau office.

FIELD OF GOLDEN GRAIN—Aloys Schwerman of Topeka, Kan., proudly surveyed his 140-acre wheat field here, which is expected to yield 45 bushels per acre. He credits his outstanding crop to the quality of seed, proper fertilization and his plan for rotating the wheat with sweet clover.

A BLOW TO OTHERS—Ten-year-old John Barjansky and Janice Lattimore, age 13, dealt a blow to other American youngsters with these king and queen-sized bubblegum masterpieces as they blew their way to the title of Bubblegum's royal monarchs in Frankfurt, Germany, competition here.

From Ohio comes a letter saying: "Two of us boys are planning a trip into Northern Wisconsin this summer, near a lake where muskies are caught. We don't know much about fishing for muskies aside from the fact that most people troll. We have trolled for northerns so know how that is done. What we don't know is what baits should be used for muskellunge."

One of the best baits for trolling is the fluted spoon with feathers; the blade of size number five or six, and the hooks of size 2/0. A great many large muskies have been taken on this type of lure. When these fish are in very deep water, though, you'll find that the chrome-plated wobblers with single hook and the tail of a sucker or chub makes an excellent attractor.

If the wobbler doesn't do the trick, then troll with a deep-running jointed plug with red head and white body. This is an effective musky lure in most lakes and rivers of the north country, especially in late afternoon fishing. You'll have to coax the muskies harder in the warm loggy days of summer than you would in the prime days of autumn.

As pointed out in Old Hi's booklet, "Fishing For The Millions," muskies often follow a lure some distance without striking. This occurs while you are trolling, to a certain extent, but more often while bait casting in the coves and bays and past rocky points. You may gain their cooperation by varying the action of your retrieve, but usually the best plan is to "rest" the water for a few hours, then return with a different spoon or plug.

You may have a free copy of "Fishing For The Millions" by sending your request to me, Old Hi, in care of this newspaper. At the same time ask for your free copies of "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing." These illustrated booklets will answer many of your questions on the tackle and methods to use in taking the principal pan and game fish in both fresh and salt waters.

If you live along the East or West coastline, you'll find that croakers (like the corvina, white sea bass and yellowfin croaker) will give you plenty of sport on light tackle at this time of the season, day or night. Soft shelled crabs, seaworms, clams and mussels make fine baits. The proper tackle to use is described in the booklets mentioned above.

Old Hi was asked to recommend a fly which would appeal to both fresh and salt water small game fish. Just tuck a few streamer flies into your plastic fly box or leather book, and you'll have a real winner.
